As an Industrial Designer, I have a strong ability to build projects from scratch which gives me a sense of satisfaction knowing that my product design can help others. I am entering the tech industry, as technology has become essential and by enhancing my knowledge and skills of new technologies, I can make an impact in the world. Through a fullstack bootcamp, I am developing a Survey web page with JavaScript, HTML5, CSS3, and version control with Git, servers with Node.js and frameworks with React. I have a thirst for knowledge and the eagerness to keep strengthen my programming skills to enhance my career in tech.
